

MARQUETTE COUNTY CLIMATE ADAPTATION TASK FORCE

Climate Action Fueled by Local Partnerships

CATF is an umbrella organization involving several concerned groups and individuals from Marquette County. CATF provides a conduit through which ways to deal with the local impacts of climate change are disseminated, a forum where leaders of local units of government and members of the general public can come together to consider cooperative responses and seek funding for climate adaptation projects and a network of contacts with state and federal agencies that can offer local communities technical advice, research tools and access to sources of funding.

Learn more by visiting our website!
WWW.MARQUETTECOUNTYCATF.ORG

Our Mission is to...

help prepare local leaders and Marquette County stakeholders to think proactively about the effects of climate change and to develop strategies that will make the Upper Peninsula more resilient and effective when dealing with the consequences of climate change and extreme weather events.

Our History

Community leaders from groups including Northern Michigan University, Community Foundation of Marquette County, Superior Watershed Partnership, & Marquette County founded CATF in 2013 to begin addressing climate change and engage other local stakeholders to take action.

CATF Members

Karen Alholm
Krystle Baecker
Priscilla Burnham
Zosia Eppensteiner
Jane Fitkin
Christy Foye
Jenn Hill
Isabelle Honkomp
Brian Hummel
Robert Kulisheck
Caroline LaPorte
Michael Larson
Emily Leach
Carl Lindquist
Jerry Messana
Brad Neumann
Ali O'Neal
Tyler Penrod
Erik Powers
Paola Rivera
Karen Schmitt
Greg Seppanen
Anna Solberg
Dave Stensaas
Ryan Stock
Jes Thompson
Dale Throenle
Nico Vermaat
Abby Wallace
Darlene Walch
Kelsey Wermager
Johanna Worley

Members serve as individuals and are liaisons to a variety of local organizations.*

Questions?

Jes Thompson | CATF Chair
MarquetteCATF@gmail.com

